Dear Alain,

The University of Miami greatly appreciates our relationship with ERGOMEDIC USA from 2005 to present. Each year you graciously volunteer your time and effort to educate the students of the University of Miami Miller School of Medicine Department of Physical Therapy on the essentials of pressure ulcer prevention. You are an expert in your field, and the students receive such a valuable learning experience due to your knowledge and training which is apparent in your guest lectures in their Integumentary Disorders and Treatment class on the biomechanics involved in the formation of pressure on the body, the science of pressure mapping and custom made pressure relieving devices, and on how and what physical therapists can do to prevent pressure on individuals and improve their quality of life. We appreciate you bringing the pressure mapping equipment to the class room laboratory session as it provides each student with a personalized experience of pressure mapping.

The University Miami Physical Therapy program would like to thank you and ERGOMEDIC USA for your generous and valuable service to the students to make them better clinicians for the future.
